

Your Rights Competition Call for Submissions!

In celebration of the 60th Anniversary of International Human Rights Day, December 10, 2008, the Metro Human Relations Commission will host a forum during which high school students educate the Nashville community about human rights through film.

Starting Monday, November 3, the Metro Human Relations Commission will accept YouTube video submissions from any high school student or group of students in Davidson County. These videos will be entered into a competition and will be evaluated based on educational value, understanding of human rights, and creativity. Entry forms are due on Monday, November 24. Video submissions are due at 4:30pm on Monday, December 1.

1st Place

Video will be professionally produced in a studio, shown at the Nashville Film Festivals, shown on local cable channels, featured on the Metro website, and submitted to Amnesty International and UNESCO.

2nd Place

Video will be professionally produced in a studio, shown on local cable channels, and featured on the Metro Human Relations Commission website. 2nd place winners will receive an invitation to a professional video studio.

3rd Place

Video will be professionally produced in a studio, shown on local cable channels, and featured on the Metro Human Relations Commission website.